

Confidential Statement of Financial Support: All international applicants for admission to Marymount California University requiring an F-1 visa must prove financial ability to pay for all tuition, fees and other estimated costs comprising at least one year's total cost of attendance. The costs associated with the student's chosen program are found below in the "Estimated Expenses" box. While MCU evaluates only one year's worth of financial ability, MCU should be reasonably sure that the student's financial ability will cover the entirety of the student's program costs. Please upload this completed form along with accompanying bank documentation (detailed below) to the Status Portal of the application, under the "International Student Visa Requirements" link. For any questions related to this form, please contact Ryan O'Connell, Director of International Services.

REQUEST FOR F-2 STATUS FOR ELIGIBLE DEPENDENTS

If you do not intend to bring any dependents, you do not need to fill out this page.

F-1 students have the ability to seek F-2 status for qualifying dependents. F-2 status allows your eligible family members to travel with you to the U.S.

To qualify for F-2 status, your dependents must be:

- Your legally married spouse, or your dependent child under the age of 18 years old
- Able to demonstrate financial support in a manner consistent with your ability support yourself through your duration of your F-1 status

Below is the formula to calculate the required amount you must be able to prove in your accompanying bank documents to support your dependents.

- Spouse $X 1 = \frac{1}{2}$ the "Room and Board" or "Living Expenses" cost + Full cost of "Personal Expenses" of your program
- Minor children (under the age of 18) _____ X (fill in how many minor children you intend to bring) = $\frac{1}{3}$ "Room & Board" or "Living Expenses" cost of your program per child + Full cost of "Personal Expenses" of your program per child.
- Total = $ _____. This amount, plus your own costs must be proven in your accompanying financial support documents.
