

Hello Villas Residents,

As you know, classes are going online for the next two weeks and possibly longer. During that time, the Villas will remain open, and the housing office will be fully operational. This means that you are welcome to return to your home here at the Villas at any point. There will be some additional precautions put into place for your safety while all classes are online.

- No guests will be allowed at the Villas except parents or documented legal guardians.
- Every vehicle that enters the Villas will be stopped, and the people inside checked in. Please do not take this personally. This is so we always know exactly who is at the Villas throughout this time while classes are online.
- All planned events at the Villas are either cancelled or postponed until classes are no longer online.
- The Resident Advisors will still be on duty but will not be in the RA office to check out equipment. You will need to call the number for the RA on duty for their assistance.
- The Villas will serve breakfast, lunch and dinner during this time.
